VIII. New Business (7:14 PM)

- Hack-A-Thon: IT Student Organization on campus, help with how to use technology for everyday life.
- The actual event: Allows the community and surrounding communities that come together for a single night to code a program that either fills a need or is interesting, cash prize for the winning team, some companies may come in to present a case for a group to take. Are looking for sponsors?

Q: Will there be food? A: Yes

Q: What programs have been created in the past? A: Digitized risk created by high school student, but we are enforcing our guidelines.

Jagar: I participated last year and it was awesome, IT students aren't the only ones who can be involved, computer science is for art and others without programming backgrounds. A: There are professionals that come in and guide you. You do not need to complete the coding in order to win.

Tim: I just started programming and went last year, and had a fun time, was able to get 3rd place.

Q: What are you looking for from RHA as a sponsor? A: Last year we received $500. It is a safe environment that promotes education.

Tabled until the next meeting. Next week, we will need to make quorum in order to vote on whether or not RHA should sponsor them.

IX. Executive Reports (7:22 PM)

President: Hello RHA! This past Friday was our SUFAC presentation, shoutout to Marisa for helping me out in front of the panel. We should hear back soon. Also I have still not received the Culvers Fundraiser check just yet as it was not ready but thanks again to all those who helped support us through that. Have a great week everyone!

Vice President: Care packages will be arriving next week and if you would like to help please let me know. We will sign for community service hours for COBE, but they will decide if they will count/allow the hours.

Executive Assistant: I finalized the resource books for your LITs! I have one per LIT so if a representative could bring back the book to their LIT, I would appreciate it. Also, it may be a good idea to bring this information each week but that is up to your LIT and representatives to decided. If you have any questions, please email me or talk to me after the meeting. Also, if I did not swipe your card, please catch me after the meeting and if there are any changes you need to your name card, let me know as well. I hope you all have a great week!

NCC: Hi all, I have a lot of announcements today. First off, we have another conference coming up WURHA 2017. Applications close November 28th at 11:45PM so get them in ASAP. Going along with that, I'm looking to get a bid committee together for WURHA which will allow us to give recognition to those who deserve in on a state level. Second, I am looking for some people who are interested in helping put together a conference. The time commitment falls mainly in second semester and will probably be for only one hour a week. Thirdly, Whitewater will be helping with French Dip at a neutral site and I will need people to help me prepare for that. Finally, the elections for my elect are coming up in the beginning of second semester. If you are interested in attending conferences and learning more about legislation then this position will be perfect for you. If you are interested in any of the opportunities or have any questions about any of them please don't hesitate to contact me at ncc@uww.edu or visit me during my office hours Monday and Wednesday 1 PM - 3PM

Q: Do we have to dress up during the conference? A: No, only those who are dealing with legislation do.

Co-Programmers:

Becca: This week I continued organizing Whitewater's Got Talent on December 5th and the auditions for it.

Marisa: I've been working on the Whitewater's got Talent Auditions list for Thursday, November 17th from 8-10 PM and Monday, November 21st from 6-8 PM in Jitters. I've also been working on the official report for Horror in the Halls.

Marketing Coordinator: This week I got posters up for Whitewater's Got Talent Auditions up in the University Center and the Center of the Arts, and updating the website with the minutes from the meetings. The results from last week's vote were mashed potatoes with 17 and stuffing with 7.
