- Lisa S.
 - Last week I worked on finishing up the presentations for the meeting, worked on moving the Instagram posts from Canva to Instagram, I also cleaned my desk and the bin for the in-person meetings. I also made agendas and went to WSG. Lastly, I went to Becca's "Savings Jar Program".
- Ben R.
 - I was on vacation last week, so I have nothing to report for this week.
- Amanda P.
 - First, I want to tell you about our upcoming "Programs That Didn't Make The Cut Week". The week is going to start off Monday April 5th with "Crack Da Can" where you can pick up a can at Goodhue front desk and we are all going to crack it open at one time for that satisfying sound. I went to Becca's "Savings Jar Program" and Wellers/Knilians LIT's bingo night. I also worked with the programming committee to plan this upcoming week. Then in our 3:1 we finalized the posters that will be hung up around campus. This week I have been working on purchase orders as well as looking at different ways we can conduct the "I Made a Friend Bag Friend", as well as "Proud Parent Tingz". I am getting super excited for "Programs That Didn't Make The Cut Week."
- Becca M.
 - This week I worked on "Programs That Didn't Make The Cut Week." I worked on the "Rock, Paper, Scissors Night", "Coloring with us Night" and "Make your own Cornhole Bags Night." My team and I talked about how we want to do each one and worked on the smaller details for the programs. I filled out the report to buy the supplies for the cornhole bags. I also picked out coloring pages for color with us night. I met with Matt, Abby and Amanda and we worked on the poster and added the times and locations.
- Abby D.
 - Hi everyone! I had a super busy week. I worked on Housing Recognition Week which entailed daily social media posts, creating cards and mini cards, and working with Andrea to get the surprises distributed to everyone. I also spent time updating the website and sending out emails. I prepared my PRD presentation that you all will get to see a little bit later during the meeting. I have been working with Becca, Amanda, Matt, and Programming Committee on preparing for the upcoming "Programs That Didn't Make the Cut Week". Last week I attended "Savings Jar Craft Night", which super informational and I learned a lot about saving money and great services the Financial Literacy Center offers. I also attended the Lee/Bigelow LIT “Drag Show Watch Party”, and I attended the Wells LIT “Spring into Sustainability Program”. They were both amazing; great job Lee/Bigelow and Wells LITs! I updated the display boards this weekend so make sure you check out the updates in your residence halls! For OTM updates, the door decs for the OTM writers are officially delivered and on their doors. Cole and I are also getting those certificates delivered to the OTM winners shortly as well. March OTM nominations are due April 5th, which is next Monday. We got 9 last month, and we are really hoping for at least 11 this month so we would love it if you could help us out. You will also receive a fun door dec just for writing one!

○ Andrea B.

- This past week I went shopping with Maria to get candy for Housing Recognition Week. I also worked with Abby on delivering housing recognition cards and candy. Along with Housing Recognition Week, I took the minutes and edited them. I attended my contract review and release team meeting as well.
